Introduction

The Foundation for Medieval Genealogy (FMG) was established in 2001 with the objects of advancing public education in the study of medieval genealogy and prosopography, promoting research into medieval genealogy and publishing the results of that research. The FMG journal Foundations has been published twice yearly since 2003 in both printed and web-based formats. Further details are available on our website (http://fmg.ac/) or from the address printed inside the cover.

This index to Volume 2 covers six issues published between 2006 and 2008 and follows a format similar to that for Volume 1, published in 2005. It is in five sections, the largest being the index to people. The complete Table of Contents to Vol.2 is also provided.

As before, the following conventions have been followed. Although the principle of indexing by surname has been followed, this is not applicable in many cases to medieval names, and geographical or other descriptors have been used where available. In many cases prepositions or articles (of, de, le, la) have been omitted. Where included, the preposition follows the main index term (eg “Hay, David de”). Nobility are indexed by the family name where given in the article (“Clare, Gilbert de, Earl of Gloucester”) or otherwise by the geographical element of their title (“Cornwall, Edmund, Earl of”). Royalty, clerics and a few other cases are indexed by their personal/Christian name (“Edward III, King of England”; “Alexander the Great”). Complete consistency is difficult to achieve and the compiler apologises for any confusion.

In the Index of Places, British locations are identified where possible with the three letter “Chapman” county code. These codes are widely used and may be found on a number of Internet sites or in general reference works on British genealogy.

Foundations Vol.2 was published in 6 parts, but as the page sequence was continuous no reference is given in the index to individual part numbers. They may be referenced as follows: Part 1: pages 1-88; Part 2: 89-168; Part 3: 169-216; Part 4: 217-304; Part 5: 305-388; Part 6: 389-476.
